The Future is Our Responsibility

In my few words today I am going to take my cue from some opposition politicians and some areas of the media who constantly blame Government, who's contributions are all the time negative about efforts to cope with COVID-19 and the Pandemic.

What we hear from some of these people is appalling.

They are the people who find a problem for every solution. They are not helpful. They are people who try to be populist about everything. It can be popular to be negative - but it offers nothing to finding solutions or helping people to cope.

The reality is - this virus is new - it is only 9 months with us. It will take time to find solutions and to cope.

In the meantime we all have a responsibility to play our part. We all have a responsibility to take the advice of medical and Health experts.

Personally, at home, in our contact with other people. And it is our responsibility not to participate in any kind of partying, or in any kind of business, not properly run.

And finally, we should not forget this is a time, an opportunity to look at our own lives, our priorities in life. What values are.

It is obvious now we will have to learn to live with COVID for some time. There will be no going back to the way we lived in the past. But the future is our responsibility.
